

Introducing.....

Martin Salt a senior solicitor who has recently joined the firm working in our Dispute Resolution Department and who brings to the firm, 9 years of:

Construction Law Expertise and Experience.

Martin qualified as a solicitor in 2001 when he started work for the City of London firm CMS Cameron McKenna and more recently joined a leading regional practice as a senior construction solicitor where he successfully conducted the Court of Appeal decision of Vascroft v Quietfield.

With Martin's addition, Herrington & Carmichael can now provide a full range of construction services both to those within the construction industry and to those using construction companies or professionals. These services include, avoiding liability and resolving disputes concerning:

- Late or defective construction work
- Payment disputes
- Retentions
- Terminations of construction contracts/agreements

Adjudication Expertise

Adjudication is a form of dispute resolution that is unique to the construction industry. It provides a 'rough and ready' decision within a very short timeframe and because of this, and its peculiarities it requires specialist legal assistance that we now have considerable experience to be able to additionally provide.

IF YOU NEED SOME CONSTRUCTION LAW ADVICE OR A NO OBLIGATION FREE CHAT CONTACT MARTIN SALT ON 01276 686222 or visit our website

www.herrington-carmichael.com