

Human Resources Retainer Service

Trying to run your business and at the same time remain up to date and compliant with HR rules and regulations is difficult. There will be times when you could do with some HR support, but you may not want to or simply cannot afford to employ a full time HR professional.

A perfectly tailored solution

Herrington & Carmichael LLP now offers an HR retainer service that works as a part of your business.

Advice on everyday HR problems and issues direct from our Employment lawyers.

We're not interested in just telling you what the rules are, but will work for you in resolving any issues you may have, so that you can continue to remain focused on running your business.

The service is designed to fit the specific requirements of your business. Our aim is to deliver an in-house service but without the inherent cost. There is an initial free consultation at which you agree with us a fixed monthly fee based around the size of the business and your requirements.

Advice is offered on all HR matters, including:

- > recruitment
- > contractual issues
- > pay, benefits and pension
- > grievance, disciplinary and dismissal

Our lawyers will come to you or you can meet at our offices, as well as being contactable by phone or email; whichever suits your needs best or is required by the situation.

HR problems can arise at anytime and we will ensure that our response is always fast, appropriate and solution-led.
