

HERRINGTON & CARMICHAEL FAMILY DEPARTMENT OFFER UP TO 1 HOUR FREE FIRST CONSULTATION

The Family Department at Herrington & Carmichael is now pleased to offer up to 1 hour free first consultation.

Arranging the first meeting can be daunting, however it is important to meet face to face to help you get to know your family lawyer and make sure they are the right person for you.

The right person is the one you feel comfortable with. Not only is it important that your family lawyer is equipped with specialist knowledge but they must listen to you and understand what you need.

It is important that your family lawyer has time to discuss with you the range of options now available, particularly the non confrontational approaches through Mediation and Collaborative Law.

Your family lawyer can only provide general advice and information during the first meeting, however your first meeting will help you make an informed decision on the right way forward for you.

For further information or to book an appointment contact 01276 686222 or email family@herrington-carmichael.com